Don't get too caught up in age labels. Some of the best toys grow with your kids and end up being used in ways you wouldn't expect.

Every image is clickable and will take you directly to shop. Some links are commissionable, and we truly appreciate your support as you use this guide to find what works best for your family.

EXPERT PICKS FOR CONNECTING WITH KIDS

Several years ago, we had the opportunity to work with Kerri and Christina from Love Play Grow on a Forbes article and were immediately drawn to their message of connection through play.

We asked them to share 15 of their favorite outdoor toys and activities so we could pass them along to you. They put together an incredible list, including an overview with each item on how to use the toy or game as a tool to better connect with your kids.

love play GROW
PROFESSIONAL COUNSELING ACROSS THE LIFESPAN

"Play is one of the most powerful ways children feel connection. Through playful moments, kids build trust, regulation, confidence, and the feeling of being truly seen. Connection doesn't happen in the big perfect moments it's built in the small ones."
-Love Play Grow

Love Play Grow NJ founders Kerri Adams and Christina Eromenok are Registered Play Therapists helping parents create deeper connection through simple, playful moments with their kids. Their mission is to help families slow down, reconnect, and build stronger relationships through the power of everyday play.

KERPLUNK

This is a low-stakes challenge and that's where so much growth happens. Kids get to feel the tension of "Will it fall?" and the disappointment when it does… but in a way that's playful, shared, and safe.

That's how they build tolerance for mistakes, learn to cope with outcomes, and try again.
And for parents, it's a chance to model something powerful:
-"That was tricky."
-"You were really thinking that through."
-"Want to try a different one next time?"

This is one of those toys where connection happens through shared excitement.

You're not directing the play you're in it. Running, laughing, getting tagged, celebrating hits.

It also supports something we talk about all the time. Kids regulate through movement and play not sitting still.

WATER TAG

GOALZ BUBBLES

We love toys like this because they create joyful shared experiences without needing a lot of structure.

Kids are moving, problem-solving, laughing, adjusting, and reconnecting over and over again through play.

And because the challenge is lighthearted, it supports something really important: the ability to keep trying after things don't go perfectly.

That's such an important life skill and summer play is a beautiful place to practice it.

KORE BASEBALLS

We love toys like this because they create opportunities for kids to feel both capable and connected.

Sports and movement play aren't just about skill-building they're about confidence, resilience, communication, and learning how to be part of something with other people.

And some of the most meaningful summer memories happen in these exact kinds of moments:
-the "throw it again!"
-the sibling teamwork
-the backyard laughter

Pocket scope- great for exploding what all kinds of things look like up close. Playing games like what do you think a lady bug looks like up close!

POCKET SCOPE

SPIROGRAPH GIANT

This is one of those rare toys that blends gross motor play + emotional regulation + connection.

You're not asking kids to sit still you're meeting them where they are in summer: active, wiggly, and craving novelty.

It's in the side-by-side creating—commenting on their patterns, adding to their design, laughing when it goes off track.

SCAVENGER HUNT

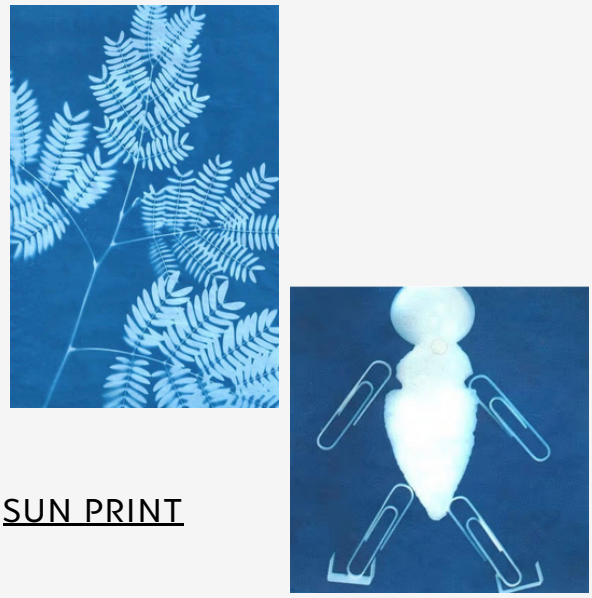

Mollybee Kids Outdoor Scavenger Hunt Cards offer an easy, portable way to turn any outing into a shared adventure, making them perfect for toddlers and preschoolers while encouraging movement, curiosity, and creative problem solving.

Working together to find each item creates natural opportunities for teamwork, conversation, and connection as kids and parents explore, collaborate, and celebrate their discoveries side by side.

A hands on lesson in patience and amazing for exploring nature, a great creatively mindful activity.

This super cool UV print kit is great for kids of all ages, parents can assist younger kids as needed. When there's an end result of something they've made kids feel a sense of pride and accomplishment, which is a super boost to their self esteem.

These prints can be hung as art or given to family or friends as another way to connect.

SUN PRINT

TANDEM-X

Estes 1469 Tandem-X Rocket Kit offers a hands on, multi step experience that older kids will love, combining building, designing, and launching for a truly engaging project.

Assembling and decorating the rocket supports patience, problem solving, and creativity, while launching it high into the sky with a real engine creates an exciting and memorable shared experience. Trust us your kids will want to do this again and again!

GOODMINTON

Goodminton Game Set is a fun, low pressure way to introduce racket sports, supporting skills like tracking motion, anticipation, quick decision making, and coordination in an accessible and engaging way.

The easy to handle paddles and slower moving birdies help younger kids feel successful and reduce frustration, while its portability makes it perfect for the park or beach and creates natural opportunities for connection through encouragement, play, and shared wins.

Waytoplay Flexible Road Set is perfect for builders, car lovers, and city creators, offering a flexible, portable play experience that can go anywhere from the beach to the backyard to the bath.

Creating roads together supports problem solving, communication, and collaboration while giving kids and parents a shared goal to build and enjoy something together in a fun and engaging way.

FLEXI ROAD

POP UP SOCCER GOAL

A popup soccer goal set is an easy, portable way to bring active play anywhere, making it perfect for summer days and spontaneous family games inspired by events like the FIFA World Cup.

Soccer supports coordination, regulation, and teamwork while staying accessible for all skill levels, and setting up kids versus parents encourages siblings to collaborate, build connection, and share in the fun together.

POP DARTS

Popdarts Game Set is a simple, engaging outdoor game that helps families connect through shared laughter, playful competition, and easy side by side interaction without pressure.

Its low barrier to entry makes it fun for all ages, creating natural opportunities for conversation, teamwork, and joyful moments together during summer days.

This is one of those toys where movement becomes regulation. The repetitive spin + jump rhythm helps kids organize their bodies, release energy, and reset emotionally especially during long summer days when routines are looser.

It shows up in the shared challenge counting jumps, cheering them on, trying it yourself

GLOW IN THE DARK CAPTURE THE FLAG

REDUX Original Glow in The Dark Capture The Flag Game is such a fun way to get the whole family outside, moving, laughing, and working together.

Kids and parents naturally build connection as they come up with strategies, cheer each other on, and team up during play, and the glow in the dark element makes it feel extra exciting and memorable for summer nights!
